BIC MONEY IN UTAH WOOL.

Over $2,000,000 This Year.

NO WOOL NOW BEING SOLD, BUT LITTLE EXPORT TRADE

Prices on the Boston Market Now Range from 12 to 20 Cents-Early Sellers Were Lucky.

The sheep shearing season is near at hand, and with the clip disposed of a great deal of money will be put into circulation in Utah. It is not known just what the cash benefits will be, but conservative sheep men and wool dealers place the figure at more than two million dollars.

This vast sum will not be let loose as early as was expected a few months ago for the reason that the wool market is not now in as good condition as was hoped for at that time. The fact is there has been, as all sheep men know, a very considerable slump or a falling of in prices. The figures now being paid are so much lower than were offered a few months ago that a great many owners will hold their clips until later in the season with the hopes that the present unsteady condition of the market will be overcome and prices

Last fall a good many far seeing sheep men disposed of their clips for this year at contract prices that averaged about 20 cents per pound. They were laughed at at the time by many were laughed at at the time by many of their fellow sheep raisers who refused to listen to the inducements offered by agents of eastern houses, saying that by holding off until spring or summer they were certain of getting from 23 to 26 cents a pound, but the sequel shows that their expectations sequel shows that their expectations were not based upon good judgment, as prices have fallen so low as to cause them to wish that they had followed in the footsteps of those who contracted at or about 20 cents. Speaking of the wool market today, the well known firm of Paine & Lyne said:

"There is little or no Utah wool now being sold. That which is upon the Boston market is bringing from twelve to twenty cents, making an all around average of about sixteen cents. The disposition among Utah sheep men now is to hold their wool for a better maris to hold their wool for a better mar-ket. Those who sold under contract last fall are at present about four cents a pound better off than those who held on. That was a pretty hard hit for the men who would not sell at that time. The fact is, though, the market of a few months ago was not a normal market at all, being based almost entirely upon the excitement of the hour. It was simply an unjustifiable boom in the wool market and the result of a boom

John Alt Wanted in Colorado Taken in Custody This Morning.

The police received a telegram from the authorities of Leadville yesterday asking the officers here to keep a sharp wood market and the result of a boom is always disastrous whether in business, real estate or anything else."

Messrs. Paine and Lyne when asked as to the number of sheep they expected would be shorn in Utah this year placed the figures at about a million and three-quarters. These should average about six pounds and a half of wool per head and their wood will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and their wool will sell for not less than a million and the million and their wool market and the result of a boom is always disastrous whether in business, real estate or anything else."

Messrs. Paine and Lyne when asked as to the number of sheep they expected would be shorn in Utah this year placed the figures at about a million and three-quarters. wool will sell for not less than a million and three-quarters in money.

Added to this should be more than half a million Utah sheep that are upon the ranges of Wyoming and Idaho, which, of course, will bring more than another half million dollars into the State, and which runs up the grand total of money that will come to Utah this year from to considerably over two million

LETTER TO SILK RAISERS.

Secretary Mrs Caine Desires Them to Send in Some Information.

Eggs May be Obtained From the Commission Free of Charge-A New Silk Twister.

Mrs. Margaret A. Caine, secretary of the Utah Silk Commission, has issued a circular letter to prospective silk culturists, a copy of which here follows:

"The Utah Silk Commission desires to call attention to the fact that the time for raising silk is again upon us, and we trust that those who intend entering upon the work this year will write to us at once for eggs. Those who taking up the work for the first time cill kindly state the number and size of the trees, from which they can obtain leaves; also the number of persons who can give their time during the latter period of the raising season, so that we will be able to send the necessary quantity of eggs.

"We also desire to state that eggs can be obtained from the commission free, and we would prefer everyone who is going to raise the worms to have seed from us, as we provide a quality which gives a much better result than those raised by people having little or no experience. We will also send pamphlet of instructions free to those vishing any information upon the sub-

We also wish to say to those who have trees, and do not care to use them, that they may do a great deal towards establishing this important industry by allowing others to use the leaves, and we assure you that it will only benefit the trees even if they are stripped several times, they will soon become much more thrifty, and this will also be a means of disposing of the fruit which is sometimes an annoyance especially when trees are planted on the street.

IS MUCH WHEAT STORED IN UTAH.

Estimated the Industry Will Yield | Mill Men Waiting for Farmers to Unload Last Year's Yield.

Ogden Milling Company Cleaning Up a Honolulu Contract-Some Frosted Wheat Reaches Local Market.

A canvass among the millers of the city shows that there is a vast amount of wheat being stored by the farmers of Utah not in elevators, as it is kept in other States, but in the granaries of the farmers themselves,

The storing, however, is not all being done by the farmers as the mill men have taken good care to see to it that their own interests were looked after in that direction. As a consequence they are not doing much buying just now, nor are the farmers doing much selling. The mill men are wait-ing for the farmers to mioad and the farmers are waiting for an advance

Just now the mills are not having their capacity taxed by any manner of means as there is little or no flour be-ing shipped from the State. Cache valley is doing a little exporting into Wyoming and a few mitor points and the Ogden Milling Company is just completing a big contract with a Hono completing a big contract with a hono-lulu private commission house. This comprises about all that is being done in the way of export. The millers all admit good prespects for a plentiful wheat supply but see no large contracts ahead of them, appearances indicating that they must for the time being at that they must, for the time being at least, content themselver with local

The wheat that is now coming into The wheat that is now coming into the market is being shipped principally from Cache valley and Sampete points. The Cache valley farmer is getting from 45 to 46 cents for his wheat there with about 7 cents added on the Salt Lake market by the carlead lot. The Sampete wheat, according to some of Sanpete wheat, according to some of the millers, is bringing somewhat less on account of being frosted. Where it is entirely free from frost evidences it brings as much as the Cache valley product. The badly frosted wheat is not converted into flour but used for them freed for eartile these bears and chop feed for cattle, sheep, hogs and poultry. A carload of such wheat was brought to this city today but was not received by the firm to which it was consigned.
